HEADTEACHER'S MESSAGE

Dear Parents and Carers

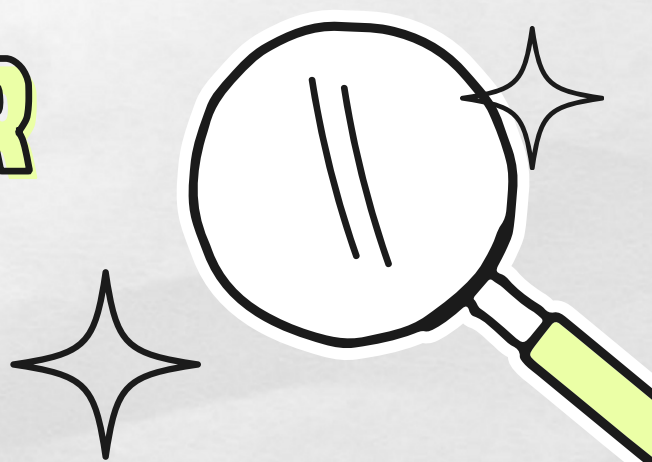

I hope this message finds you well. As we look back over the past few weeks, I am thrilled to share the wonderful experiences and learning opportunities that have unfolded at our school. It's been an extraordinary time, filled with moments of discovery, inspiration, and joy.

World Book Day, celebrated last Thursday, was a highlight that brought much excitement and a shared love for reading among our students. Dressed in their comfy clothes, the children delved into the magical world of books, exploring stories and characters with enthusiasm. A special and memorable moment was the visit from Debi Evans, author of the enchanting tales about her time-travelling dog, Rolo. She captivated our children with retelling stories from her books, igniting imaginations and fostering a deeper appreciation for storytelling. It was truly a joy to see.

These events have not only enriched our students' learning but also highlighted the diverse world of opportunities that knowledge and curiosity can unlock. As we continue on this educational journey, I am reminded of the supportive and engaged community that makes such experiences possible. Thank you for your continued support and enthusiasm.

Warmest regards,

Mr L Lovelidge

BRITISH SCIENCE WEEK

This week has been dedicated to British Science Week, an initiative that holds great significance in our curriculum. Embracing the theme of exploration and innovation, we were privileged to welcome several special guests who shared their knowledge and experiences, bridging the gap between education and the professional world. Claire and Chloe, local midwives, along with Abi, a distinguished member of the Air and Space Institute at Lincoln College, provided invaluable insights into their careers. Their presentations aimed to challenge stereotypes about the role of scientists and demonstrate the pivotal role science plays in various professions. The aim was to break down children's stereotypes of scientists and help them understand the importance of science in numerous career paths.

SCIENCE WORKSHOP

On Tuesday night, our Science Family Workshop turned into a vibrant hub of discovery and excitement, captivating not just the children but their families as well. Everyone had a fantastic time exploring the wonders of wildlife, delving into hands-on activities that brought the natural world closer to home. The highlight for many was the opportunity to make exploding rockets and erupting volcanoes, activities that not only demonstrated fundamental scientific principles but did so in a fun and engaging way.
